Who is a General Surgeon ?

A General Surgeon is a medical doctor who specializes in performing surgeries to diagnose, treat, and manage a wide range of diseases, injuries, and medical conditions. They are trained to operate on various parts of the body, particularly the abdomen, digestive system, breast, skin, soft tissues, and endocrine organs.

General surgeons are responsible for evaluating patients, recommending appropriate treatment plans, performing surgical procedures, and providing care before, during, and after surgery. They also manage emergency conditions that require immediate surgical intervention.

When Should You Consult a General Surgeon?

You may need to consult a general surgeon if you experience:

- Persistent abdominal pain
- Hernia or swelling in the abdomen or groin
- Gallstones causing pain and discomfort
- Appendicitis symptoms
- Breast lumps or abnormalities
- Thyroid-related conditions requiring surgery
- Piles (hemorrhoids) or fissures
- Skin lumps, cysts, or abscesses

Common Procedures Performed by General Surgeons

General surgeons perform a variety of surgical procedures, including:

- Hernia Repair Surgery
- Appendectomy (Appendix Removal)
- Gallbladder Surgery
- Breast Surgery
- Thyroid Surgery
- Piles and Fissure Surgery
- Removal of Cysts and Lumps
- Emergency Abdominal Surgeries
